Changes in affiliated relationship of SNV with SNVUSA/ DevWorks

Over the past decade SNV has invested in the establishment and growth of SNVUSA, a District of Columbia USA not-for-profit corporation (501c3), as a closely affiliated organisation. Our aim was to access US government financing to jointly increase our impact in fighting poverty. Our close affiliation of SNVUSA was based on an agreement that SNVUSA worked exclusively in partnership with SNV Netherlands Development Organisation using an intertwined modus operandi governed by SNV policies and procedures.

We are proud that SNVUSA/SNV has successfully built a considerable USAID financed portfolio based on the extensive on the ground implementation capacity and quality track record of SNV Netherlands Development Organisation on WASH, Agriculture and Energy in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

The exclusive affiliation we have built up together is now coming to an end as SNVUSA rebrands itself.

SNV will continue to pursue USAID and other USG financing directly, as a prime contractor or through sub-contracts with various US-based organisations.

We have been informed that SNVUSA intends to continue with the 501c3 entity we helped establish under a new brand name: DevWorks International (DevWorks). DevWorks will no longer work exclusively with SNV for new business and plans to partner with other NGOs and private firms.

SNV intends to continue working with DevWorks on projects currently under implementation through the original affiliated SNV USA/SNV set-up. DevWorks/SNVUSA is not a representative of SNV and cannot use project references from SNV Netherlands Development Organisation.

We wish DevWorks and our many colleagues with whom we have worked in unison the best in their new endeavour.

We look forward to enhancing our impact in agriculture, energy and WASH sectors through our US government financed projects.
